NALEO Educational Fund and Partners To Host Spanish-Language Ranked-Choice Voting Trainings in New York City

WASHINGTON, D.C. – The National Association of Latino Elected and Appointed Officials (NALEO) Educational Fund, in conjunction with its partners – the New York City Campaign Finance Board (NYC Votes); Bronx Borough President Rubén Díaz, Jr.; and Dominicanos USA, will host a series of virtual Spanish-language trainings for voters on Ranked-Choice Voting in New York City.

In serving as a partner and watchdog for agencies like NYC Votes to help reach Latino communities with information about electoral processes and monitor the agencies' work to ensure the protection of voting rights, NALEO Educational Fund is hosting a series of Spanish-language trainings on Ranked-Choice Voting for Latino voters in New York City to help inform voters on how the process works.

WHAT

Spanish-language training series on Ranked-Choice Voting for Latino voters in New York City

WHEN

Tuesday, March 16, 2021 – 12:30 p.m. ET

Thursday, March 18, 2021 – 5:30 p.m. ET

WHERE

Zoom

March 18 registration here.

WHY

As Latino voters continue to face challenges accessing basic information about elections processes and the fact that Ranked-Choice Voting has not been implemented in any other jurisdiction with the size and cultural diversity of New York City, voter education and empowerment around this method of voting must be a priority.
